“Mayor of Maryvale”, Red Thompson Inducted Into MSBL WS Hall of Fame!

By Steve LaMontia

Batman has his Robin, James T. Kirk has his Spock and Tempe Diablo Stadium has its Maryvale Stadium. Maryvale Stadium, and the adjacent practice fields, are major players in the MSBL World Series scheme of things and that’s where long time MSBL umpire and facility foreman Red Thompson lurks. You’ll find Red flying around in his golf cart, handing out championship trophies and goodies, and organizing everything from finding more baseballs to chasing cars out of illegal parking areas. For his efforts these past 26 years at the World Series as an umpire and babysitter, Red is being inducted by MSBL Founder and President Steve Sigler into the 2015 class of the MSBL World Series Hall of Fame. “I’m 74 years old and have been an umpire for 54 years,” said Red. “When I was in the service my boss asked me if I ever umpired. I said no, so he gave me a rule book and shoved me out on the field and I haven’t stopped since.”

You’ll also find Red patrolling the fields in Palm Springs and Las Vegas at MSBL tournaments. “I haven’t been to the Fall Classic in Florida to help yet. Maybe someday,” said Red, who lives in Las Vegas with Judy, his lovely wife of 39 years. There have been instances of umpires getting sick or having to leave for emergencies out at Maryvale, the Milwaukee Brewers spring home, and that’s where you’ll find Red, suiting up and hitting the field to save the day. When an umpire’s pregnant wife went into emergency surgery Red told him to get going and stepped onto the field. We all help each other. Red works part time for the Las Vegas Metro Police Department in the key room where he hands out the patrol car keys, shotguns, radar guns and other important gear. Those who are fortunate enough to know Red understand why he is tailor made for the job. Organization and following the rules are Red’s credo. “I work my tail off at work and also for Steve Sigler and MSBL and make sure they always look good,” said Red. “I am very honored to receive this award and I’m happy to know that what I have been doing all this time is making a difference.”
