Despite The Rain Teams Stay Flexible And Games Go On!

25+ WB American Division MSL All Stars batter, Jeff Holiday crushes the ball into right center field, driving in 2 runs his teams game against the Waves at Tempe Diablo Stadium.

Unusual Weather Pattern Returns In Week 3 As The Temperatures Drop

Recurrence Of El Nino Cited As A Major Factor For The Unseasonably Cool Conditions

By Tom Prenderast

An overnight rain left the fields at the Riverview Sports Complex too wet to play at 10:00am so those games got moved to other locations. Throughout the day numerous rain delays of anywhere from 15 minutes to 45 minutes interrupted tournament games, but in the end all 78 games were played to their conclusions. According to the local weather people, the Valley of the Sun is experiencing an incredibly rare climate disruption for this time of year. Basically they are getting cooler than normal temperatures and rain. A welcome relief to the folks that live here in the dessert, but a huge inconvenience to visitors who are in town for a baseball tournament. Today the 45+/60+ teams complete their pool play games and playoffs spots are on the line. As soon as playoff seedings are available they will be posted on the website.

Mike Cadenazzi Inducted into MSBL Hall of Fame

By Steve LaMontia, Director of Communications

in with Steve Sigler and head over to see Mike for the goodies. This is a huge responsibility. For his hard work and sleepless nights, MSBL Founder and President Steve Sigler is inducting Mike into the 2015 class of the MSBL Hall of Fame. "I retired in 2006 and was helping with similar duties in Las Vegas. Brian (Sigler) asked me to help with the equipment in Arizona that year and I have been involved ever since." Mike's baseball related accomplishments began on the field, of course. He was a pitcher for Seton Hall in 1964 and his baseball journeys brought him to MSBL in 1994 in Rhode Island. He retired from the field in 2012 after coaching some very successful Rhode Island teams in their league and at the World Series while sneaking in the occasional at bat. "I had to back off and concentrate on my duties for Steve and MSBL." Having attended and played in so many MSBL World Series, is there something that stands out? "When we won our first trophy in 1996 I turned around at Tempe Diablo Stadium and it said 'Rhode Island National Champions' and I got emotional. I strapped the trophy in the seat next to me on the flight home." Cadenazzi continued, "Giving out a trophy is as good a feeling to me as receiving one. I love seeing how happy they are. I appreciate being able to represent Steve and MSBL and take part in their joy. Our tournaments are class all the way and I really enjoy it!"
