25+ WB American Division Playoff Pairings On Hold This Morning

WS Staff Presented With Some Irregularities Yesterday Decides To Resolve Them On Field

By Tom Prenderast

The final day of pool play in any division is always a busy one for the WS staff. The phones at the Tempe Diablo Stadium office ring constantly with managers and players requesting playoff information for their teams. It's also not unusual to receive a call from a manager that starts with, "Well, I hate to lodge a protest, but...", and then he states the case for his official protest. More often than not these kind of calls don't pan out. But occasionally a valid request comes in and requires immediate investigatory action by the staff. For example, if a former MLB pitcher appears in a game, under a different name, then that's going to raise a few red flags. 99 times out of 100, a player will present a US driver's license and the case is closed. However when a player can't produce a driver's license, passport, state ID or even a library card, well then that's kind of unusual. Especially when everybody on the team knows what's going on but to somehow think the players on other team won't recognize the guy is really kind of insulting. In addition to that, thanks to former vice-president, Al Gore (who invented the internet) players have instant access numerous websites, that include all MLB player's career stats and here's a surprise, pictures of these players. Over the years we hear a lot of excuses regarding how these really good players end up on their teams. Hey who wouldn't want a Roger Clemens pitching for them? You heard the saying; "fool me once, shame on me, fool me twice shame on you". So when a manager of a team tells me that he had no idea who the former pro player was, it's hard to swallow especially after he just pitched 4 scoreless innings of no hit ball! There's nothing wrong with trying to (continued on page 3)

2 come up with the best guys you can find to participate.
 9 This tournament is for amateur players, guys who pay to 0 play, not for guys that used to get paid for playing. These guys stand out not just because they are easily recognized but because their skill level is quite a bit higher than that of everybody else. But when a guy throws 90+ consistently in our league and is always around the plate? And one more thing, there's usually one guy on the team that ends up sitting on the bench and that person usually isn't shy about informing the other team just who that guy really is!
