Several 50+ Teams Have The Opportunity to Win It All Today

Pre game Protocol Includes Exchanging Complete Rosters 30 Minutes To 1st Pitch

By Tom Prendergast

Winning a championship in any sport, at any level is never easy. So today 8 of our teams have the chance to do just that. The Midwest Angels take on the OC Sox in the National game while the Chicago North TSP Fire face off against the Sacramento Capitals in the Mountain division final. The undefeated Ventura Dodgers (who scored an astounding 107 runs during pool play) will play the Arizona Cubs, who also went undefeated at 5-0-1 and scored 84 runs in the Cactus championship game. The Chicago Pinch Hitters will meet the Madison Blues in the Desert final. Throw out the cliché's and leave the excuses at home. It's win or else and when your this close to the prize, well it's balls to the walls. Every pitcher on the staff is available today and all the players are ready to go, no matter how many bumps and bruises after playing 7 games in 5 days. Pop a couple of ibuprofen's and it's game on!

Before any MSBL World Series game can begin, both managers need to meet and exchange complete lineups. Especially in participation divisions. This includes first and last names, with jersey numbers. And if you have any players who have some major or minor league experience, then you need to note that on your roster. Because it going to take the other team about 5 minutes to Google every player on your team for prior professional status. In case your not sure whether or not a former pro can play in your division, check the inside of your scorebook for a refresher. If your team insists on playing "walk up" music, keep it profanity free, please. Let's do this the right way!

Reflections from a First-Time Attendee:
Brian Ballard, Ventura Dodgers, 50+ Cactus
By Brian Ballard

"I've enjoyed reading the World Series Daily News and the coverage of the World Series. Very well done! This is my first year playing here, and it's been a blast so far! I'm from North Carolina, the small town of Denver, just north of Charlotte. I play in the CABL league in Charlotte and travel with a couple of teams to tournaments in Fort Pierce and West Palm, Florida, as well as Myrtle Beach, So Carolina. I've got a friend who plays in the Father/Son division, and one day I'd like to do that as well. Playing in this World Series was actually recommended by an umpire who was calling one of my high school games (26 years as a HS coach) down in Myrtle this past spring. So, I threw my name in the free agent pool and here I am! Coach Brad Milner of the Ventura Dodgers was the first one to reach out, and I committed just a few days or so later! I have really enjoyed being around him and this team. They are an amazing group of men, and they have welcomed this southern boy from the other side of the states with open arms...even if they don't understand me half the time with my southern drawl! It's been a great run so far, as we are 6-0 and looking forward to the playoffs! I've really enjoyed playing on these fields and the opportunity to play in the stadiums, something I'll never take for granted or forget! So, my hats go off to everyone involved in putting this tournament together- from top to bottom! I've pitched five innings while only giving up two hits and one unearned run with no walks. The bat is coming around as well, batting .500 with three walks, three RBI, a double, a SAC fly, and a couple stolen bases and 4 or 5 runs scored! Again, thank you for your coverage, and thanks to MSBL and the city of Phoenix... all involved should be proud!"

Brian - thanks for the kind words! TP
